

Activity Profile: Anaconda Junior Survivor

Get up, get out... get active!

September 2010

The Anaconda Junior Survivor continued its surge of popularity on the Gold Coast as a record number of kids participated in the 4km fun obstacle course at Palm Beach Parklands today. Over 600 children aged between 4 and 13 years old started in waves from oldest to youngest with huge smiles as they ran, jumped, crawled, waded and climbed their way around the scenic course.

The event is all about participation, having fun and enjoying the outdoors so no times or winners were recorded. All that mattered was evidence of enjoyment and the whoops, screams and ecstatic looks of joy definitely demonstrated that the goal was attained. There were some extremely fast and agile kids though who we'll look out for in the adults Anaconda Adventure Race in the future.

The blustery winds didn't detract from the experience although the course had to be modified slightly to allow for the conditions. The favourite obstacle by far was the slippery slide, which this year was made even more exciting as the kids slid down a sand dune and into water at the bottom. Those who hesitated at the top were screaming for more at the end but couldn't spare the time to go again as they rushed off towards the next thrilling hurdle. The Magic Tree and Hula Hoop Hop Through were all new additions to an already exhilarating course.

With all kids safely finished and no injuries recorded a presentation ceremony of sorts was conducted where heaps of spot prizes were awarded.
